Open Meetings and Remote Participation

Generally, Minnesota’s Open Meeting Law requires public bodies hold their meetings in physical locations open to the public. However, exceptions do exist which allow certain public bodies to conduct meetings via telephone or “other electronic means.”

Local units of government may conduct meetings by telephone or other electronic means, provided certain conditions are met.

Those conditions include the following:

1. The presiding officer, chief legal counsel, or chief administrative officer for the affected governing body determines that an in-person meeting or a meeting conducted under section 13D.02 is not practical or prudent because of a health pandemic or an emergency declared under chapter 12;
2. All members of the body participating in the meeting wherever their physical location, can hear one another and can hear all discussion and testimony;
3. Members of the public present at the regular meeting location of the body can hear all discussion and testimony and all votes of the members of the body, unless attendance at the regular meeting location is not feasible due to the health pandemic or emergency declaration;
4. At least one member of the body, chief legal counsel, or chief administrative officer is physically present at the regular meeting location, unless unfeasible due to the health pandemic or emergency declaration; and
5. all votes are conducted by roll call, so each member’s vote on each issue be identified and recorded.

Under such circumstances, “each member of the body participating in a meeting by telephone or other electronic means is considered present at the meeting for purposes of determining a quorum and participating in all proceedings.”
